

What Is The Pre-Bagging Discount All About?

At Camp Sunny, we always require that you send your dog's food from home. That's because we know it often causes diarrhea and intestinal distress to suddenly switch a dog's food—and of course, it would be impossible for us to stock every dog's brand of food here at our facility. When you send along your dog's food for boarding, you can do it one of two ways.

- The first is to just send along a bag or container of food and let us know how much your dog typically eats per meal or day. We will then measure out the food for each meal. You will pay the standard daily boarding rate if you take this approach (in other words, you would not receive a "pre-bag discount").
- The second way is to send your dog's food is to "pre-bag." This means to put each of your dog's meals in an individual baggie (pre-measured at the exact amount per serving). If you do this, you will get a daily pre-bagging discount (see price list), as it saves us time to just open a bag and dump it in a bowl with a name tag rather than stop and take the time to measure. The time we save in food preparation we pass along in savings to you!

By the way, we do try to send back your empty baggies for future reuse or recycling by you.

Note: if your dog eats canned food, you do not need to pre-bag! We count canned food as already pre-bagged. Just let us know how much to serve (ex.: ½ can per meal, 1 teaspoon mixed with dry food, etc.). We do have refrigerators here for any unused portions of canned food.

We feel that our pre-bag policy not only ensures accuracy, but it increases our efficiency and saves our customers money. And that's important when we are feeding up to 70 dogs a day!
